hello@okayjames.co.uk

James started in the visual arts working simultaneously as an Art Director and Producer across music videos, content and commercials. Stationed in-house at Soho based company Burning Reel, they learnt on the job, and they learnt fast. James gained a vast amount of experience across a range of budgets and clients including Adidas, Guinness, You Tube and Purina. Managing a production, its crew, clients and creatives has lead them to develop excellent communication and organizational skills. Their natural eye for aesthetic teamed with strategic coordination and a passion for learning allow James to approach each new role with confidence and excited curiosity.

James believes that the key to a successful production is creativity teamed with communication. They work to bring a department together in a shared vision while creating a supportive and positive atmosphere that allows for strengths to shine and skills to be shared. With a united crew big things can be born from small teams and solutions can be found to the seemingly impossible.

Strengths include:

- Highly confident managing entire sets in studios and on location.
- Extremely comfortable liaising with all departments.
- Current knowledge of London & Northern prop houses, along with a wider network of specialised suppliers and markets.
- Experienced in graphic design, buying, dressing, graphics, coordination, standby, prop making and scenic.
- Years of production experience resulting in a practised understanding of the entire film making process.
- Excellent organisational, leadership and problem solving skills.
- Practised in working to tight time lines and under pressure.
- Focused on communication, teamwork and camaraderie.
- Constantly learning and listening, hoarding information, both visual and practical.
- Member of Bectu Committee. Committed to advancing fair contracts and equal opportunities.
